

A Hooker Furnishings Company

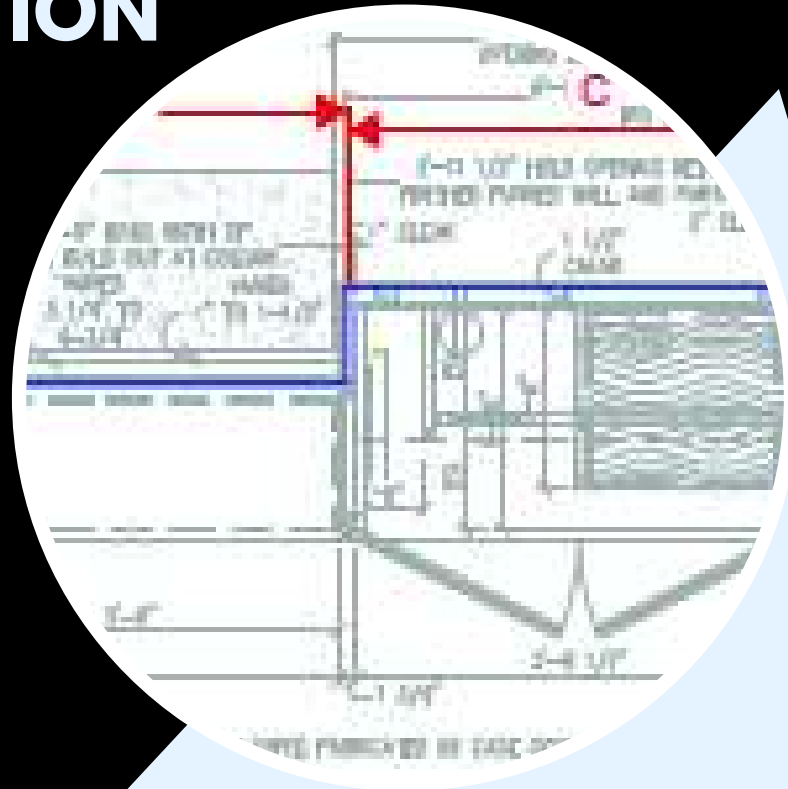

OMNI BROWARD COUNTY CONVENTION CENTER

Challenge

Initially, access panels were omitted from Broward drawings. Prior to goods shipping, the procurement team realized that an access panel was needed for future maintenance. However, the location was not universal by room.

Action

We conceptualized and drew a universal cutout that would allow for the ceiling variability by room.

Broward Closet Challenge

Solving for variability by room

Result

Because this was a mid-production solution, we had to take 2 different approaches. For the non-assembled closets, we CNC-cut an access cutout in the closet top panel. For the assembled closets, they were unboxed, an access panel was manually cut in, and they were reboxed and prepared for shipment.